A Message To 4-H Youth

For those who attended 4-H camp this summer, there are a few matters which still need attention.

First: We have quite a long list of items which were left in camp. Some of these are expensive to replace. If you were missing an item of clothing, sleeping bag, purse, catchers mitt, travel case, call me at 348-2086.

Second: Those of you who attended camp, have received a questionnaire from Merrill. We know there were mistakes made in this, our first 4-H encampment. We also know, that, with your help we can make next year's camp more successful. Please, fill out the sheet and send it back, as soon as possible.

Finally: Our 4-H Community Birthday and Events calendars are here, and must be sold at once. They begin with the month of September and contain the year's schedule of athletic events. These are attractive and sell for $1.00. Any individual who wishes one and is not contacted by one of our youth, please call or stop at my home.

Little League

By Harry Miller

Little League season is over. The American Legion won the major league title. Miller Hardware are the champs of the minor league for the second consecutive year. Congratulations.

Surely, this has been an outstanding year. Your managers and coaches, having taken part in Little League, however frustrating, when your blood pressure mounts to a fever and your stomach gets as hard as a baseball, when your team loses 30-49. When the umpire calls a boy safe at home, although he was tagged out by 10 ft. When a player cries because he loses, and you try to console him by putting your arm around him. When mom and dad tells him his mistakes and assures him of his potential. This is Little League. When the season is complete, you have the heartwarming realization that you have helped a boy.

Of course our tourney team was something else. The cool, calm coaching of Cy and Jerry. The desire, the come from behind playing of a Walker, Olsen, Hubert, Hanson, Wheeler, Johnson, Hoffman, Kaiser, Money, Welch, Morrison, Theaker, Hinkle and Olson. The excitement (See Little League on Page 12)

Restrictions Set For

AuSable - Manistee Rivers

Sault Ste. Marie — Regulations that would severely restrict canoeing (or any boating) on sections of the AuSable and Manistee Rivers in three counties, adopted tentatively by the Natural Resources Commission, would go into effect next year.

Public hearings and legal review of the rules will be held before final action is taken.

However, Jerome Maslowski, an assistant attorney general, said the commission he doubts it has authority to impose such regulations.

Under the proposals, the most serious curtailment on the use of the river by watercraft would come between opening day of trout season and the end of June each year on those stream segments.

The AuSable between Grayling and Parmelee Bridge, the South Branch of the AuSable down stream from Rosecommon, the North Branch of the AuSable down from Kellogg's Bridge, and the Manistee from Crawford County Road 612 down to CCC Bridge in Kalkaska County.

During the little more than two months specified, no more than 30 canoes (or boats) could be launched per hour between 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. daily on any of those streams' sections.

Because the craft would have to be off the river by 6 p.m., it means that probably no more than 210 could float any stream section daily during these two months.

Canoeing and boating would be restricted to the same hours on streams through Labor Day.

From July 1 through Labor Day, however, there would be no restrictions on the number of watercraft using the river.

Only watercraft belonging to streamside property owners would be permitted on the following sections of stream:

The AuSable upstream from Old U.S. 27 in Grayling, the East Branch of the AuSable, the Manistee upstream from Crawford County Road 612; and the North Branch of the AuSable up from Kellogg Bridge. No motors would be permitted on any stream section falling under any of these special restrictions.

No limits would be placed on boating or canoeing on the main stream of the AuSable below Parmelee Bridge, on the South Branch upstream from Rosecommon or on the Manistee down from CCC Bridge.

Fishermen would be required to carry litter bags or keep litter on their person. Waders could not interfere with watercraft.

Permits would be required of overnight campers during the first two months of the trout season and littering of the campsites would be illegal.

No so-called all-terrain vehicles could use the fishable waters of these streams.

The Department of Natural Resources would provide access points, give permits and patrol the river.

Although a study of the conflict in recreational use of the AuSable system is underway, the staff of the DNR was ordered last month to come up with this proposal for regulating pleasure canoeing on the AuSable and other rivers.

The AuSable study is sponsored by the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission, the State Department of Commerce and the DNR. It is to be conducted by the Northeast Michigan Planning and Development Commission, Rogers City.

CAMP GRAYLING — Patriotic music, brass, dignitaries and a crisp Grayling breeze marked the laying of the cornerstone for the Camp Grayling Memorial Chapel last Thursday.

The laying of the stone, amid the sand, block, stone and mortar of the partially completed foundation, signaled the official beginning of the $175,000 chapel to serve the National Guard troops who train here.

The chapel, a multi-faith structure, has been some 30 years in the discussion stages. It is expected to be completed in time for use by guardsmen in training next summer.

The cornerstone contained, among other items for posterity, a proclamation from Governor William G. Milliken and a personally autographed message from Jackson, Michigan astronaut James McDivitt. The message is hand printed on a section of Beta cloth containing a uniform patch similar to the one worn by Col. McDivitt on his Apollo Nine mission.

Participating in the ceremony were: MG Clarence C. Schnipke, Commanding General of the Michigan National Guard; BG Carson R. Neifert, deputy commanding general; LTC Harold Kirchenbauer, staff chaplain; State Senator Anthony Stamm; and other staff officers of the Michigan Guard.

The chapel is being financed by a fund raising drive conducted over the past three years among individual National Guardsmen, at military church services, and through interested private citizens and firms. As a final effort to put the fund drive over the top, many guardsmen will be contributing a day's pay from this year's annual training period.

In Roscommon County

Bids Opened Aug. 18 on 14 Miles Construction of I-75

Bids for construction of 14 miles of Interstate 75 Freeway in Roscommon County will be taken August 18 in Lansing, the State Highway Commission announced.

Start of the construction will leave only 5.2 miles of Michigan's 393 mile segment of the freeway on which work is yet to begin.

The two projects on the 14-mile stretch, totaling $11.5 million, are among 30 construction and maintenance projects totaling an estimated $27 million which are scheduled for the bidding.

Eight miles will be constructed from the Roscommon County line west to County Road 500 and six miles from County Road 500 west to near Nine Mile Road.

The eight mile stretch from the county line includes grading and drainage structures, five bridges, and paving of a connector with M-55. Completion is scheduled for July 1974 at an estimated cost of $8,540,000.

The work to Nine Mile Road to be done in October, 1972 includes grading and drainage structures, construction of two bridges and paving. The cost is estimated at $3,010,000.

I-75 extends 1,523 miles from Miami, Fla. to the Canadian border at Sault Ste. Marie. Eighty-five percent of the route is open to traffic, including 261 miles in Michigan.

Bids on the remaining 5.2 miles in Ogemaw are scheduled to be taken later this year. Motorists should be able to drive over all 393 miles in Michigan by 1974.

Big Mac
Bridge Walk
Labor Day

A bird's-eye view of the Labor Day morning 4 1/2 mile Mackinac Bridge Walk scheduled to start at 7:30 a.m. on September 6, 1971.

ST. IGNACE — The 14th Annual Mackinac Bridge Walk on Labor Day morning led by Governor William G. Milliken, starting at 7:30 a.m., is expected to attract between 16,000 and 20,000 participants.

The Mackinac Bridge, which is closed to pedestrian traffic except for Labor Day morning, is geared up for record 20,000 persons taking part in the traditional 4 1/2 mile trek which began in 1958 with 65 members of the International Walkers Association led by then Governor G. Mennen Williams.

For the past several years the Bridge Walk has attracted more than 15,000 persons, rain or shine. During election years it has become the focal point of political activity, with candidates for state and local offices participating in the Walk and taking advantage of the opportunity to meet and greet bridge walkers as they complete the trek.

Vehicular traffic, both northbound and southbound, is maintained during the Bridge Walk. The two east lanes are reserved for walkers. In past years, southbound traffic has experienced some delay. However, plans are going forward to eliminate the problem this year.

Prior to the general walk, which is not a race, the International Walkers Association will sponsor novice races across the Bridge for men and women, and boys and girls. Registration to participate in this event will be open at the Bridge Plaza (north side) prior to the commencement of these races, which will start at 7:15 a.m.

All walker completing the trip are given certificates attesting to same. These certificates are numbered and keyed to prizes valued at more than $1500.00 awarded by the merchants and the Chamber of Commerce of Mackinac City.

Marching bands, boy scout troops, and community promotion groups are encouraged to participate in the Bridge Walk. However, running, jogging, roller skating, bicycling, anything but pure and simple strolling is prohibited during the General Bridge Walk.

Efforts to obtain buses to transport walkers from Mackinac City to St. Ignace early on the morning of the Walk will be made, but it is strongly recommended that Bridge walkers make provision to be at the Bridge Plaza, north side, on the morning of the Walk without depending on the bus service, which at best is subject to unusual traffic congestion. Persons planning to walk the Bridge must start before 10 a.m.

SOLITUDE
SOLITARY

Quiet moments in solitude are good for the soul. Each of us needs those moments apart from the busy world—where we can distill our thoughts, reshape our purpose and revitalize our spirit.

This is not the same as living a solitary life—to be shut off from society, aloof and alone. We must remain in touch with the rest of mankind, or we will become lonely and selfish. We must be a part of the common flow of life.

In a society filled with patterns and cross-currents of both good and evil, where we dare not live in isolation, every person needs a strength greater than his own. That strength, derived from the presence of God in our lives, is the central concern of the Church. Spend some time in solitude with God before you attempt to meet the rush of life.

Doing In A Sacred Cow

The nationally known economist and columnist for Newsweek magazine, Dr. Milton Friedman, is one of the few individuals that has had the temerity to stick a needle in the balloon of that sacred cow, the U. S. Social Security System. He calls the manner in which the system is presented: "... an egregious example of misleading advertising."

Dr. Friedman takes a widely circulated booklet of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and shows how the statements contained therein are grossly deceptive. For instance, the booklet says: "The basic idea of social security is a simple one: During working years employees, their employers, and self-employed people pay social security contributions which are pooled in special trust funds. When earnings stop or are reduced because the worker retires, dies, or becomes disabled, monthly cash benefits are paid to replace part of the earnings the family has lost." As Professor Friedman points out, labeling payroll taxes as contributions is like saying compulsory means voluntary. And, as for trust funds, they are a joke. Says Professor Friedman, "The fact is that currently collected taxes are being used to pay current benefits. No trust fund in any meaningful sense is being accumulated." He calls the social security system a one-sided "compact between the generations." He likens the "trust fund" to a "chain letter", that old fad of a number of years ago that paid off for the early starters and left late comers holding the bag.

Concludes Dr. Friedman of social security, "I know of no greater triumph of imaginative packaging and Madison Avenue advertising."

Perspective

Stories and news reports from East Pakistan and India present with numbing horror the plight of a people overwhelmed by war and pestilence. One report in Life magazine declares, "The scale of the disaster ... is staggeringly hard to comprehend. Cholera is only the first epidemic; it now afflicts areas along the entire 1,350-mile India-East Pakistan boundary. Doctors point to the possibility of smallpox, typhoid and polio in the offing."

Pictures show scenes of people whose faces are "emptied of all hope". Young and old, fleeing from the brutality of West Pakistan's soldiers, have no food, shelter or clothing. They are doomed to death because these things are not available. Their tragedy should make every American pause in humble gratefulness for the blessing of plenty which is taken for granted in our own country. Compared to the final extremity confronting countless thousands and perhaps millions of people in diseased and war-torn East Pakistan, the imaginary tribulations and laments of some of our own people are revolting to say the least.

50th Anniversary For Oaks Family Reunion

The Golden Anniversary of the annual Oaks family reunion was held at the Hartwick Pines State Park on August 8. The mighty Oaks stood tall and strong this year with 96 Oaks, acorns, sprouts, and guests attending.

The groaning boards were loaded at one o'clock with the finest potluck dinner available, followed by the business meeting. The 1970 minutes were read by Helen Hatfield and approved by all.

The oldest family member present was Ralph Oaks of Chi, with Jeffery Clum of the Durand area claiming the youngest. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Levenworth (Joann Lennert) of California came the farthest with Edgar Auten of Albuquerque, N. M. second. Others attending came from Ohio and several cities in Michigan.

Games were played and Ralph Moshier of Clio won the boys foot race. Nina Decararo of La-Priente, Calif. won the big girls race. The little girls race tied Debbie Farrell, Cathy Rhodes, Tammy Clum and Cheryl Hatfield. Ruth Barger won the ladies shoe kick. Winners of the treasure hunt were Tom Moshier, Nina Pecararo and Eddie Palmer.

The gift for the largest family went to Doris Palmer for having 21 members of her brood present.

The penny prize went to Tom Moshier of Clio.

Next year's reunion will be held at Merrill, Mich., the home of Elda (Parker) Schultz. Officers elected for 1972 are: president, Elda Schultz; vice-president, Lavina Stuckey; secretary-treasurer, Leona Goward; and entertainment, Margaret Oaks and Martha Clum.

A ball game, which ended in a tie (?), finished out the day, after which everyone bid a fond farewell until next year.

Consumers Want to Know

by MARGARET SPADER
Director of Consumer Affairs
National Association of Manufacturers

What's the difference between an automatic meat thermometer and a meat thermometer?

An automatic meat thermometer thinks for you while a meat thermometer needs you to think for it. Actually, the automatic variety of this useful gadget is an accessory for gas and electric ranges. It looks like a skewer on a cable which is plugged into an oven-wall receptacle. The probe is inserted into the meat, as with any meat thermometer. The control on the range panel must be set to the desired internal meat temperature. When the meat is done, a signal will sound, or the oven will automatically turn down to keep the food warm.

I purchased a used coffee percolator at a sale. It's in good condition but it does not make good coffee. Can anything be done about this?

A stale odor is common to cooking appliances not continuously used. All percolators should be washed occasionally with vinegar or soda solution (1 tablespoon to six cups of water). Percolate this mixture ten minutes to remove coffee deposits or odors. Rinse with clean water.

Why does my Teflon coated iron stick to clothing?

You may be using too high temperature, or perhaps it is sticking only to clothing that has been starched. A small amount of salt, about 1/4 teaspoon for instance, added to the starch will help to keep the iron from sticking.

Are self-cleaning ovens expensive to operate?

The answer to this question depends on the utility rates in your area. During the cleaning process, the cost averages about 8 cents for electric models; 4 cents for gas. The additional cost of the self-cleaning oven feature on a new range must be considered too. This ranges between $50 and $75.

by PETER G. HAMMOND
Executive Director, National Coordinating Council on Drug Education

Industry's concern about drug abuse is justified. An entire range of practices, including possession and use of drugs, trafficking, larceny of plant materials, thefts of trade secrets, chronic absenteeism, increased workman's compensation claims and product liability litigation, is increasingly part of the drug problem. Consequently, confrontations will occur between employers and user and nonuser employees, each citing contractual rights and obligations while invoking constitutional guarantees, labor and civil rights legislation and company rules.

Violations of these laws, rules and regulations should be handled first within existing bodies of law. At the same time, industry should be part of a long-range goal to modify these laws on the basis of new medical, social and economic facts about drugs.

The imposition of these laws as well as disciplinary and security measures, in many cases, results in prolonged and costly legal contests. Solutions, therefore, must be based on the knowledge of applicable statutes and their application within the context of the broader medical and social issues of drug abuse.

These issues will be discussed at a series of Drug Abuse in Industry Symposia sponsored by the National Coordinating Council on Drug Education and the National Association of Manufacturers. The Symposia will be held October 11-12 in Detroit; and November 1-2 in Atlanta.

LIVING- AS YOU LIKE IT

The spare time that comes with retirement can be a blessing or a millstone. It is a blessing when one plans and uses this time wisely and well. It can be a period of decadence for the individual who is resentful over forced retirement and becomes indolent and indifferent.

Retirement time should be planned. Some new program, activities or interest need to be cultivated. A rocking chair can be slow death for the individual whose job for twenty or thirty years has made certain physical demands on his body and his energies. Perhaps the main problem is that most of us are so busy during our working years that we fail to develop good leisure time habits. We are content to sit by the fireside, watch television, or nap away the time in an easy chair.

Many of us have two great loves—family and job. When retirement comes, we feel that part of our world has collapsed. This isn't the way it is at all. We should more rightly consider retirement as earned time. We deserve it. We have worked hard for it.

One reason some of us are not happy in retirement is that we plan for it no more seriously than we would plan for a two week vacation.

Thought For Food

Meat cooked at low to moderate temperatures provides maximum tenderness and juiciness. In addition, because of less shrinkage, there's more meat to serve. Also, the center of the meat cut is fully cooked without becoming overdone.

Macaroni pairs well with leftover meats to provide a salad entrée especially inviting in the summertime. Simply cook and drain macaroni and combine with an equal amount of leftover beef, cooked pork or ham, cut into pieces.

Dairy chocolate milk is a glamorous refresher when served in frosted glasses with a whipped cream garnish. To frost glasses: dip rims of chilled glasses into unbeaten egg whites, then into confectioner's sugar.

Orange Ho is a new drink made from orange puree. Developed by U.S. Department of Agriculture researchers, Orange Ho makes use of the whole orange—skin, pulp and juice. In ordinary juices at least half the orange is wasted.

INSPECTORS... Fishing for trouble are hard rock miners Charles Chapman and Frank Mares. The "dike" they are beating on is located in a man-made cave some 3,500 feet below the top of Cheyenne Mountain, home of the North American Air Defense Command Combat Operations Center. Periodic inspection of the water reservoirs are made to determine possible damage nature might have inflicted on her granite structure.

For And About Teenagers

MY BEST FRIEND TEARS ME DOWN...

THE WEEK'S LETTER: Little Lila has a problem, problem solver. I have this thing that, if answered, will probably solve many of other problems. When I am with my best friend and another friend of hers is around she tends to tear me down, which I can't stand.

OUR REPLY: There are many possibilities. It could be that you are sensitive about another friend being in the picture and you are looking for something to be unhappy about. If your friend is happy about it, she may not be aware of it. Maybe she is just kidding around and doesn't know you are taking it seriously. If she is your best friend, the two of you should be able to talk—seriously—about anything that might affect your friendship. If you are sure that your friend is tearing you down, sometime when you are alone tell her what you think—and see how things go from there.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, PRANKFORD, KY.

"I REMEMBER"

From Miss Fern Reynolds, Brooksville, Fla.: I remember the only steam powered automobiles. The village doctor was about the only one in town who owned such a vehicle where we lived in that first decade of the 20th century. It was such a rare occasion that our teacher dismissed classes briefly, as our ears caught the first "chug, chug, chug" of the horseless carriage. How thrilled and excited we were, as it came into view with the cloud of spitting steam billowing behind as it bumped and churned over those country roads. I remember rennet-curdled milk in the copper boiler while making our cheeses. We had our own home made press and screened in cupboard for further processing and curing. I also remember making soft soap detergent from lye and waste fat as well as filling our bed ticks with straw.

Hypocrisy is allowed

By Jim Fitzgerald

In historic Yankee Stadium, where Babe Ruth smacked all those home runs, there is an unusually graphic display of hypocrisy. It boggled my small town mind and I didn't know whether to laugh or cry. So I simply stifled my emotions with another beer. There was no sense making an ass of myself in front of all those blasé New Yorkers who obviously weren't even aware of the 3 signs that had prompted me to grab my son and say: "God God, look at that!"

The first sign, and the biggest, extols the virtues of OTB — Off Track Betting. In New York, you don't have to go to the racetrack or patronize the corner bookie to get a bet down. You can march right up to one of the caged windows at Grand Central Station, among other public places, and pin your money on the horse's nose.

The second sign, almost as big, urges you to buy a ticket on the New York State Lottery. You can win $1,000 a week for 6 zillion weeks, or something like that. The tickets are sold at every cigar counter and in every church vestibule.

The third sign is small and rather weather-beaten. It advises the baseball fans: "No Gambling Allowed."

This is similar to putting up a "No Eating" sign in a restaurant. The New York government is bombarding citizens with neon pleas to "please place your bets with us, your state needs the money." But if you bet the guy next to you $1 that the Yankees don't score in the 5th inning, you can go to jail, you dirty gambler.

The important thing to remember is that nothing is wrong unless your government says it is wrong. But keep your eye on the atlas. Be sure you know where every freeway exit is spitting you out. It is illegal to bet with a bookie in Michigan. You can't even play bingo there without risking arrest. But in Las Vegas you can shoot crap in the wedding chapels. In New York, Governor Rockefeller will bet you 10 to 1 that Mayor Lindsay won't collect your garbage before it can be smelled in Florida.

The day after the Yankee game we went to NBC to watch the taping of the game show, "Concentration," and we did the usual mugging when the camera swung our way. We were back home a month before that show appeared on the tube. It was the same day Apollo 15 took off for the moon. My son Eddie was terribly concerned that "Concentration" might be pre-empted by coverage of the space launch. Thus he would be gipped out of seeing himself on TV.

His values were obviously out of whack. A moon shot is certainly more important than a silly game show, even if it does star Red Ed and His Waving Hands.

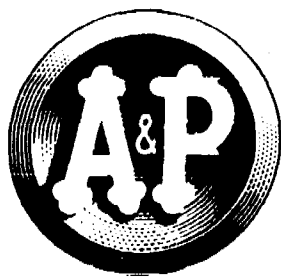

After all, it's been months since anyone brought back a bag of rocks from the moon and the supply must be running low.

But anyway, moon trips are becoming ho-hum things, restricted to the regular news shows. "Concentration" appeared as scheduled and, if you looked closely for 1 second, there was the Fitz family, waving at the world and wondering how long it would be before Ed Sullivan phoned. So there was no immediate need to talk to Eddie about the warp in his values.

Besides, it would have been a hypocritical thing to do. I didn't want Apollo 15 knocking us off TV either. I'm against moon trips anyway, even if they pre-empt Doris Day. The fare is way too high for a lot of people who can't afford to go downtown.

No father wants to be a hypocrite to his son, so I was glad to escape the sham. If I did want to be a phony, I'd aspire to much higher things than pious lies about moon trips. I'd want to work for the New York government, painting signs. I just thought of 3 pips:

1. "This Is A Library." 2. "The Books Are Free." 3. "No Reading Allowed in This State."

SUNDAY'S SERMON

TODAY IS NOW
Many of us waste the days of our youth dreaming of tomorrow and with the golden years are content to live with our memories. Today is the now time, the time when we may be out and doing. Now is the time to strive, to gain, and to win. Now is the time for everyday living, for meeting the problems that life brings our way. Problems are part of the world in which we live and we should meet them as they appear. If we turn our back and walk away, we deny the inevitable and postpone the time when we shall have to face up to the situation and do the very best we can. Do it today, in everything you do—the very best you can. This is a very simple formula for successful living. This is the best insurance you can get that tomorrow will be a brighter day.

Local School Control On Way Out

by Richard L. Milliman

The one-room school is all but gone . . . the little red school house has almost faded from the picture . . . and it appears that the local control of local education is facing the same fate in Michigan.

There appears to be no real monolithic campaign to transfer control of our local school system from the local board room to the state. The whole idea may not even be in anybody's mind right at the moment.

But it can happen anyway. All the signs seem to point in that direction.

And, looking at it objectively, it may not be too bad an idea.

Coming your way, voters, sooner or later, will be a statewide vote on doing away with the local property tax as the base for financing local education.

It's an appealing idea. The biggest squawk about taxes from citizens throughout Michigan—if you don't consider the various federal taxes—is the way the local property tax keeps going up and up, either through increased valuations, or increased assessments, or increased rates, or all three.

It's a legitimate squawk from the long-suffering taxpayer. Local property taxes finance local government and local schools, with local government getting most of its support from the property tax, while local schools get a hefty share of their support from local property taxes.

So, if the local property owner is to get relief, then either local programs will have to be reduced, or the taxes will have to be replaced.

The general thinking in the state right now is to replace the local school tax with a state-imposed and state-distributed income tax, and leave the local property tax primarily for financing of local city, township and county governmental activities.

Democratic leaders in the legislature have recognized the appeal of such an idea, and have insisted on tying together the questions of (1) local property tax relief, and (2) changing the state income tax system to permit a graduated tax rate.

A graduated income tax is poison to many taxpayers yet property tax relief is viewed as deserved and necessary manna. To tie the two questions together under the Democrats' approach, then, presents the knotty dilemma of having to pay for the fat to get any hamburger along with it.

In my view, sooner or later the state will take over more directly the financing of local education. In the words of some proponents of the idea, this will provide "equity in education," or "equality of educational opportunity" throughout the state.

Why, these proponents ask, should a child in the inner city, or a remote Upper Peninsula village, have less educational opportunity (that is, less tax support) than a child in one of the rich suburbs? They're all Michigan citizens, aren't they? Shouldn't their schooling be equal?

So the answer will be to transfer school financing to the state, and spread the money around as equally as possible.

While money itself will not equalize educational opportunity, it will be a long step in that direction. So the next logical step will be to lengthen the state-imposed guidelines as to what makes a good education, and how it is to be presented, and then to turn these guidelines into controls.

If the state takes over complete financial support of schools, such an extension of educational philosophy is inevitable.

The approach has manifested itself in yet another way, with the idea propounded a year or two ago to place all teachers under the state civil service, with uniform pay ranges throughout the state. This idea, too, goes hand in hand with the overall approach to state control of local education.

And the vehicle for state control is already in place. Take a look sometime at the system of Intermediate School Districts throughout Michigan. These districts now act primarily as funnels for the state board of education, and their influence could be expanded easily.

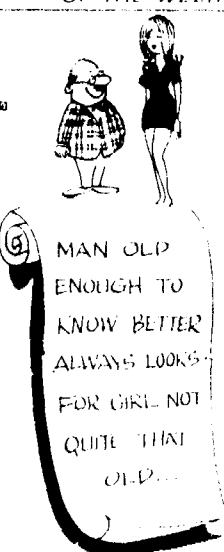

The whole idea should arouse all the apprehension of a patient visiting a drunken dentist with a dull drill.

But my, those teeth sure do hurt; so what's a fellow to do?

Lansing Notebook

By Sen. John F. Teepe

TWO-PRONGED AMENDMENT VOTE NOW BEFORE SENATE

Do you want property tax relief urgently enough to vote a graduated income tax on your self?

In essence, that is the proposal the Democratic-dominated House of Representatives has voted to put before the people of Michigan.

The proposal is now before the Senate where 26 votes will be necessary to put it on the ballot. That is two-thirds of the 39 senators.

After Gov. William Milliken changed his mind and went along with House Speaker William Ryan, enough House Republicans joined with House Democrats to pass the proposition with one vote to spare. Only one Democrat opposed it.

If the proposal is to be voted on at a special Nov. 2 election, it must be passed by the Senate by Sept. 2. Present indications are that its chances of being passed by the Senate are slim.

If it comes to a vote of the people, they should know that the overall proposal would trade about 20 mills of property taxes for an initial income tax increase of about 2.6 per cent in addition to the 3.9 per cent which went into effect Aug. 1.

In addition, people would ultimately have to absorb much of a "value added tax" of about 2 per cent which would be placed on business.

Voters should be warned that, although there would be relief from school property taxes, the proposal does not call for total repeal of such taxes. Even if the proposal passes, some school districts could still collect up to 10.5 mills for school purposes under some situations.

The property tax ceiling on all local taxes would be cut from 50 mills at present to 26 mills under the two-pronged constitutional amendment being proposed.

Governor Declares State Park Week

LANSING — August 22-29 has been declared State Park Week by Governor Milliken who urges Michigan citizens to observe the week by taking part in activities offered by their state park system.

Similar observances are being held in 25 other states. They are under sponsorship of the National Conference on State Parks which celebrates its golden anniversary in meetings in Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 19-23.

In his declaration, Governor Milliken pointed out that Michigan's first state park was established at Mackinac Island in 1895. "Today," he said, "Michigan's state parks offer our residents and visitors an unsurpassed variety of recreation opportunities — from beautiful natural settings on inland lakes to historical sites to the shorelines of the Great Lakes."

There are 77 parks in Michigan's state parks system and upwards of 20 million people visit them each year. Three are new state parks under development: Seven Lakes in Oakland County (222 acres); Sleepy Hollow in Clinton County (2300 acres); and Ionia in Ionia County (2700 acres). All are administered by the Department of Natural Resources.

378 Horses Counted In Crawford County

Willard Bosserman, County Extension Director reported a count of horses, ponies, donkeys, mules and zebras in Crawford County.

The census was part of a nation wide effort to prevent further spread of the Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis.

There is no immediate threat to Michigan horses, however, horses were located and counted in order to facilitate action in case an emergency arises in the future.

The Crawford County census was under the direction of Mrs. Merrill Baldwin, County Extension Home Economist.

She thanks, Mrs. Nels Olson, Arthur Wakeley, Mrs. Shirley Hagan, Sharon Hagan, Pat Thompson, Mrs. Pat Spaniewski, Mrs. Peggy Benedict, Glenn Wert, Harold Babbitt, and other helpers for this assistance in the census.

Public Auction For State Equipment At Gaylord Aug. 21

More than 35 pickup trucks and station wagons are among 88 pieces of state-owned equipment to be sold at public auction at Gaylord, Saturday, August 21, William N. Hettiger, Director of the Michigan Department of Administration, announced today.

Mileage on most of the vehicles ranges from 47,000 to 70,000 miles and most vehicles are in fair condition, Mr. Hettiger said. All of the equipment has been used by the Department of Natural Resources.

The sale will begin at noon at 540 South Otsego, Gaylord. Prospective buyers may inspect the vehicles and other equipment during the day before the sale and the morning of the sale.

Included in the items to be placed on the auction block are three snowmobiles, three aluminum rowboats, five outboard motors and eight Chris Craft boat trailers. Other equipment ranges from a furnace control and two typewriters to lawn mowers, water pumps and a trailer-mounted buzz saw.

All buyers must be prepared to pay in full with either cash or check immediately when a bid is accepted, Mr. Hettiger said. And, all purchases must be removed from the premises when the sale is finished.

Prospective buyers are required to register with the auction clerk and receive a "bidder's number" before the sale begins in order that the auction can move swiftly.

Both dealers and the public are eligible to bid on the equipment and the sale also is open to employees of the State of Michigan.

Any purchaser of a motor vehicle who wants the title made out in the name of both husband and wife, must bring his or her spouse to the sale to sign the title. Any buyer under 18 years of age must have a parent or guardian present to sign the title, Mr. Hettiger said.

Jack Pine's Stump

One should never talk about beards, Larry Mac shaved his off before last week's paper came out, which didn't help either of us very much. And then I ran afoul of Doc Schwarz, Steve Perry and the Meter-Man. Baiter Wayne Andrews — all at one time. These three bearded wonders felt neglected. They shouldn't be, really, for I was only talking about people who were growing hair for the Centennial. These three, and many others, have had beards for so long we just take them for granted — the beards, not the persons. Solly, Cholly!

A couple of hours ago I fell into musing about parties. They are ridiculous, and most are given at the wrong time, for the wrong people and for the wrong reason. Take for instance a Bachelor Party. A bunch of men get together to say farewell to a man about to enter into Holy Matrimony. Like he's left his friends forever, which to a degree he has. What we really ought to have is a Divorce Party or a Separation Shindig. There's a REAL reason for a party. It would be like welcoming back someone from the dead. Consider, if you will, the party given for a guy going into service. Big deal. But when he comes back, warped out of shape in some way who gives him a party? Who even gives a damn? And what would be wrong with a Drop-out party for kids who can't make it in school? At least they are honest enough to admit it, but all they get is criticism. Honesty deserves better. Most people celebrate getting a raise or a new and better job, but it's the guy who lost his job that needs a party — a lift from his friends. Think what it would do for a person's morale when he, or she, went out to look for a new job, no regrets, in the full knowledge a big party was thrown away the past and that there were people who really did care what happened. What a great time for a Money Shower, if there is such a thing. The possibilities are limitless. A Bicycle Binge for a guy who lost his driver's license or a Fender Fracas for the poor man who wrecked his car. One of my party pet peeves, however, is the Going Away party for the couple who are going to Europe or Asia or South America. These parties are usually given by people who haven't got the money to go themselves for people who do have the money. It should be reversed. I guess what I am trying to say is a party should be given to help someone who needs the help.

In a couple of weeks my oldest son is getting married. He's a college graduate who doesn't know what he wants to do. I can't blame him. He knows where he wants to go to college. Colorado. So many of Today's people are going out there. Maybe the clean mountain air has something to do with it or maybe it's just a nice place to starve. If I were his age I'd do the same thing and tell the Establishment types who preach "Out of School Into Life" to take a Great Flying jump into the Great Salt Lake.

Was talking about the same thing to a man who should be of The Establishment because of his position. He had questioned one of his boys about what he wanted to do in life. The kid said he didn't know. "Good!" said the father to his son. "You shouldn't. I don't care what you do, but whatever it is, make sure you do it well. And don't lie to yourself." Man, that's great advice. I have another boy who isn't about to get married. He doesn't know what he wants to do, either. With pardonable parental pride, I can honestly state that whatever he does he will be a success at. I only hope that it's something socially acceptable.

I met a young married man recently who visited relatives in Grayling for a weekend. When he got home on a Monday he told his wife they were moving to Grayling. He gave up his job, his home, which was in a high crime section of Detroit, and moved to Grayling. No job, no contacts. Nothing. He just wanted to live in Grayling and that was that. But he needs work — badly. He's had two years of college and has done some police work and some insurance work. I asked him what he could do. "Anything," he answered. "That's great, so can I. But what can you make a living at?" That stumped him. So if any readers want to help this man who is willing to do anything, I'd appreciate hearing from you. His alternative is the Big City again, and I wouldn't wish that on anyone.
